Proposal For U. S. Ships To Sail To Any World Port

Committee In Senate Favors Step 13 To 10

BY WILLIAM B. ARDERY
WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(P)—By a vote of 13 to 10, the Senate Foreign Relations committee approved legislation today permitting American merchant ships to carry arms and allowing them to sail to any port in the world.

The momentous bill, a substitute for the House-approved measure limited to ship arming, was accepted after the committee had voted 12 to 11 to take it in lieu of similar legislation proposed by Senators Pepper (D-Fla.), Lee (D-Okl.), and Green (D-R.I.). Senator White (R-Me.) who voted with the opposition on the first tally, joined the administration majority on the final ballot.

Democratic Leader Barkley, who sponsored the proposal, set Monday for the start of Senate debate. He said that "it is hard to guess how long" it would take to get action.

Senator Nye (R-N.D.), an administration opponent, said there would be additional speech-making because the committee approved repeal of the Neutrality Act's provision forbidding American merchantmen from entering belligerent ports or designated combat areas.

Nye and Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) another administration foe, said there was no intention to filibuster but Nye added that "This is the last step we take before actually entering the war, and it is an issue which quite normally would call for speeches by close to 96 senators."

Follow FDR's Suggestions

The committee bill, approved after four days of hearings, would carry out President Roosevelt's recent recommendations regarding shipping.

In a special message to Congress on October 9, Mr. Roosevelt urged amendment of the Neutrality Act as quickly as possible in order to permit arming of merchant ships against "the modern pirates of the sea." He also asked that Congress give early attention to removal of restrictions "keeping our ships out of the ports of our own friends."

To refuse to permit American ships to carry supplies to England, the president said, was in effect inviting control of the seas by the Nazis.

Mr. Roosevelt's proposals received the backing of Wendell L. Willkie, the 1940 Republican presidential nominee.

In New York, Willkie said in a statement today's committee action was "very gratifying" and added he hoped that "a very large number of the Republican members of Congress will support the movement and insure the early passage of this amendment."

Willkie reiterated, however, that the 1939 Neutrality Act should be repealed entirely "as a firm declaration of America's moral position in the present world struggle."

Enactment of the Foreign Relations committee measure would leave in effect present Neutrality Act provisions granting the government control over munitions exports, forbidding Americans to travel on belligerent vessels except under certain circumstances, preventing foreign governments from soliciting money in the United States and prohibiting foreign ships from flying the American flag.

Eliminated would be the present combat zones which extend around the European coast from Bilbao, Spain, to Onega, Russia. The zones also prevent merchant ships from traveling in the Mediterranean or to ports on the eastern tip of Canada.

How They Voted
Those voting for the expanded legislation were Connally, George, Wagner, Thomas of Utah, Murray, Pepper, Green, Barkley, Guffey, Glass, Lee and Tunell, all Democrats, and White, Republican.

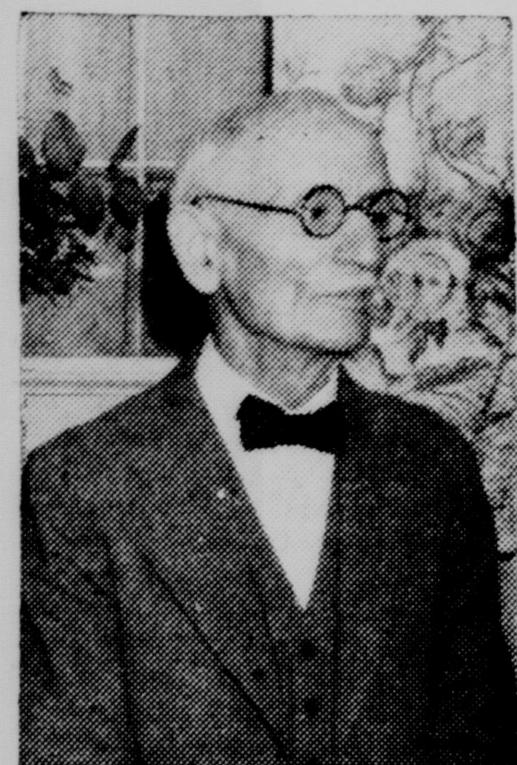

Opposed were Senators Van Nuys, Reynolds, Gillett, and Clark of Missouri; Democrats; Johnson of California, Capper, Vandenberg, Shipstead and Nye, Republicans, and LaFollette, Progressive.

George told reporters that he voted for the Barkley substitute because he thought it was wise to place the issue of thorough-going neutrality revision "squarely before the people."

C. F. Walch Dies

Retired former business man passes away at his home here on Friday night.

Funeral Of C. F. Walch To Be Held Monday

Pioneer Citizen And Business Man Many Years Dies

Charles Frederick Walch, aged 78 years, a pioneer citizen and for many years one of Sedalia's leading business men, died at 10:45 o'clock Friday night at the family home, 915 West Third street. He had been in failing health for several months.

Mr. Walch was born in Alpenrod, Germany, in 1863. When a young man he came to America on a summer vacation to see the country and visit relatives. He was so impressed that he decided to make the United States his future home, and he obtained employment with the Missouri Pacific railroad, where he learned the trade of a bridge builder.

After some years he interested his father and family in coming to America, and they too came to the United States to reside.

Into Hotel Business

In 1881 Mr. Walch came to Sedalia with his father, and they purchased the City hotel, then on Main street near the Missouri Pacific depot. After his father's death he continued operation of the City hotel, until business grew and business houses were both on Main street and Ohio avenue. He opened a fancy bakery and confectionery known as the Boston Cafe, at 313 South Ohio avenue, and some years later, during the time Mr. Finney was superintendent of the MKT railroad he operated commissary cars for that road. For the ten following years he had the Walch European hotel, on West Second street, and his last active business venture was the concession at Liberty park.

Mr. Walch was one of the oldest members of the Evangelical and Reformed church and served on the official board, holding every office from president on to the minor offices. He was a charter member of the Maccabees belonging to the Woodmen of the World, and throughout his residence in Sedalia was active in progressive civic affairs, particularly in the construction of good roads.

All Out For Red Cross' Be The Roll Call Theme

"All out for the Red Cross!" With this terse phrase the national vice-chairman, James L. Fieser, sounded the twenty-fifth annual roll call theme at the regional conference of the American Red Cross held in Kansas City Tuesday, October 21, at the Hotel Continental.

The 450 representatives from the midwestern area who attended the conference were impressed with the necessity of making the annual roll call the most intensive membership campaign in Red Cross peace time.

Those from the Pettis county chapter who attended this meeting were: Philip McLaughlin, chapter chairman; A. H. Wilks, roll call chairman; Mrs. Arthur Kahn, Miss Agnes Quin, Mrs. R. F. Rohr, Mrs. Albert Wright, Mrs. Lawson McCurdy, Miss Ruth Ann Slane and Mrs. Robert Spencer.

Displayed Garments
The Kansas City chapter had on display different garments and knitting done by their volunteers. It should be gratifying to the Pettis county Red Cross volunteers.

Conference Of Typographical Group Opens

Officers Will Be Elected After A Banquet Today

The Missouri Typographical Conference opened its semi-annual session at Hotel Bothwell Saturday night, with seventy delegates registered, and many more expected to arrive this morning for today's meetings.

A joint meeting of the conference and Ladies Auxiliary was opened in the Ambassador room of the hotel at 8 o'clock last night, by Charles R. Behrens, president of local 206. Gerald Stites, Springfield, president of the Conference, responded and delegates were welcomed by Mayor J. H. Bagby.

A business session followed, and about 10 o'clock they adjourned to spend the remainder of the evening socially.

Conference Today

Conference sessions will convene in the Ambassador room at 9 o'clock this morning and the auxiliary will meet at the same hour in the Peacock room, for the transaction of regular business.

Edward P. Mullaley, Sedalia postmaster, will be the toastmaster at the conference banquet, at 1 o'clock today. A number of guests will join the members.

The final session, for election of officers and other conference matters, will open at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Federal Men Make Arrests

Members of the Federal Bureau of Investigation late Saturday night came into Sedalia and picked up Bertha Chrisman, Negro woman, for investigation on immoral charges. She was arrested at her rooming house at 209 East Jefferson street, along with five Negro women who were found at her place.

The women were taken to the Pettis County jail where they were fingerprinted and photographed by the federal officers. The Chrisman woman, known in Sedalia as "Little Bit," was taken to Jefferson City where she will be taken before a United States District Commissioner.

The five women arrested with her are Clifton Hill, Corine Robinson, Lucille Gray, Letha Robinson, and Mary Johnson. It was said that some of the women are believed to have been brought to Sedalia from Oklahoma for immoral purposes. They are being held in the county jail pending further investigation.

Sheriff Ross Bothwell, Deputy Sheriff Archie Smith, and Sergeant Paul E. Corl of the State Highway Patrol assisted the federal officers in making the arrest.

Meeting Tonight For Wage Earners

Announcement has been made by George Ethridge, president of the Labor Council, of a meeting to be held in the Labor Hall, at 7:30 o'clock Sunday night, which the states will be of interest to many.

The Labor Hall is on the third floor of the Smith-Cotton building.

The committee has arranged to have as the speaker Frank K. Dunn, Informational Service Representative of the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance.

All wage earners are invited to attend.

tears to know that their work compares most favorably with any shown in Kansas City.

The state chairman of public information, Mrs. Robert S. Withers, Clay county, reported that 3,735 chapters are engaged in war relief production in the nation. Six hundred of them are carrying on surgical dressings programs in addition. There are now 11,179,268 volunteers enrolled in this service.

The field director of the American Red Cross, Raymond L. Sauter, located at Fort Leonard Wood, spoke most interestingly on what the Red Cross is doing for the boys in camp and how it is helping to sustain their morale. He also spoke of the sports equipment supplied by the Red Cross.

The field director serves the soldier and his family through chapters which make the necessary investigations in case of any difficulty at home. There are 63 military camps in the country and each has a Red Cross field director.

Gets His Wings

Norman Fred Bockelman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bockelman, of 1305 West Fourth street, received his wings in graduation from the naval aviation training school at Pensacola, Fla., Wednesday, October 22, and is an ensign in the U. S. naval flying corps.

He ranked among the first ten of a class that started with 156 and ended with 73 flying cadets. He is a graduate of Smith-Cotton high school and later attended the Central Missouri State Teachers College at Warrensburg.

He is home for a two weeks stay after which he will go to the San Diego, Calif., flying naval base and thence will proceed to Pearl Harbor, Honolulu, to be assigned to their respective homes today.

Herman Kirchofer, who suffered a fractured hip, was removed to his home, 416 North Grand avenue, Saturday, and M. Price, of LaMonte, returned to his home Friday.

To Raise Funds For Symphony

Opening Concert Will Be Tuesday November 18

Favorable reports on the campaign for the Sedalia Symphony orchestra were made late Saturday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce office by representatives of several women's organizations, who opened the drive for the 1941-42 season last week. On Monday a committee of men will start soliciting in the business districts and its industrial concerns.

The orchestra is preparing for its seventh consecutive season and the opening concert will be presented on Tuesday night, November 18, at the Smith-Cotton school auditorium.

Audition Artists

Abe Rosenthal, conductor, and I. H. Reed, a member of the board of directors, were in Kansas City Friday auditioning artists who are being considered as guest soloists.

The famous Grieg "Peer Gynt Suite" has been selected as one of the offerings for the inaugural program, and among other members will be Liszt's "Second Hungarian Rhapsody" and "The Three Musketeers" by Rimsky. The complete program will be announced at a later date.

Weekly rehearsals have been held by the 50 local members of the orchestra for the last two months and the regular rehearsal will be held Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Karl Hunzeker is chairman of the campaign committee and he is being assisted by John Z. Montgomery, business manager, Mrs. C. M. Johnson, Mrs. Sylvain Kahn and Mrs. R. B. Woods.

The symphony session last year was conducted without a general drive for funds, an unusual record, but funds to maintain the musical library, to assure fees to nationally known guest artists and to meet other expenditures are now needed. The members of the orchestra receive no remuneration.

The conductor feels that the orchestra's personnel this year embodies the most superior musicianship in the symphony's history, and a distinguished season of four regular concerts is anticipated.

Man Sentenced Here Was Slain

Paul Dodd, 27 years old, grandson of Police Judge M. A. Dodd of Springfield, Mo., was slain early Saturday in an alley near the public square at Springfield. Dodd several years ago was arrested in Sedalia on a charge of stealing a motor car and was sentenced to Algoa Farms upon pleading guilty.

Later Dodd was sentenced to the Missouri penitentiary on a charge of stealing a radio in Springfield.

Several persons were standing near Dodd when the fatal shot was fired but none apparently saw who fired the death dealing bullet.

Child Killed By Car
WASHINGTON, Mo., Oct. 25.—(P)—Donald Owens, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvie Owens, was killed today by a hit-and-run driver on highway 100 in the residential section.

Diet Takes Up U. S. Relations

TOKYO, Oct. 25.—(P)—The Japan Times and Advertiser, organ of the foreign office, declared tonight that United States-Japan relations probably would be the chief concern of an extraordinary session of the Diet called for Nov. 15.

The newspaper said foreign observers believed the discussion would center on whether to continue negotiations toward an understanding with the United States, or to break off the talks.

Domestic said a "critical moment in Japan's foreign diplomacy" had arrived. The news agency added that the forthcoming parliamentary session probably would deal also with Japan's relations with Germany and Soviet Russia.

Bothwell Hospital Notes

Albert James Jenkins, aged 14, of Knob Noster, underwent an operation Saturday noon, and his condition is serious.

Lewis Welch, Houstonian, was admitted for medical treatment.

Mrs. E. H. Blaue, Sedalia route 3, was admitted for surgery.

Mrs. George L. Sutherland, 1315 East Fifteenth street, Mrs. B. W. Wiley, of Houston, route 1, Mrs. Lee Hare, Lincoln and C. A. Winkler, of route 1, will all return to their respective homes today.

Herman Kirchofer, who suffered a fractured hip, was removed to his home, 416 North Grand avenue, Saturday, and M. Price, of LaMonte, returned to his home Friday.

Sessions at Church

The morning and afternoon sessions will be at the First Methodist church, Fourth street and Osage avenue. The evening session will be a dinner meeting at 6:30 o'clock at Hotel Bothwell.

It is planned to open the morning meeting at 10 o'clock and conclude at 12 noon, to reopen in the afternoon at 2 and close at four o'clock.

Find Body In Wrecked Plane

One Of Four Others Reports Landing By Chute

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25.—(P)—The badly burned and mangled body of an army pilot, one of five since they disappeared in a heavy cloudy bank Friday, was found today in the wreckage of his swift P-40 pursuit ship.

Col. Lathan A. Smith, Fresno air base commandant, identified the flier through a regulation disc he wore as Lieut. W. H. Birrel.

Several hours later, Mrs. John G. Pease said at Boise, Idaho, her son, Lieut. J. H. Pease, had telephoned from Delano, Calif., saying he was safe after parachuting from his plane. He was one of the five pilots listed as lost, although he had been seen leaping from his craft.

Mrs. Pease said she was overcome by relief at hearing her son was safe that she failed to learn any details, except that he was unhurt.

Big bombers flew over the towering Sierra Nevadas in a carefully planned search, but a civilian flier, Claude Williams, sighted the first wreckage on Gray's peak between Fresno and the Yosemite valley.

Major William F. Kyle, who led the ambulance crew to the scene, said forest rangers had observed a shiny object on another ridge, 10 or 15 miles away and that a search would be made there tomorrow.

Another of the planes was believed down in the vicinity of Tehachapi, 30 miles north. Army and civilian searching parties were waiting in the little mountain community for some trace of the pilot, Lieut. J. H. Pease, seen parachuting from his craft after

Are The State Police a Comin'?

There has been a lot of smoke raised over the recent ruling of the attorney general severely circumscribing the powers of the Missouri State Highway patrol. Legal opinion is that the patrol cannot aid sheriffs or officers by investigating any crime not connected with the state's highways.

A major problem in effective crime control in Missouri will develop if activities of the patrol are curbed.

Actually Missouri's highway patrol is more like a state police organization which in some states operates independently of the highway patrol. Two separate enforcement agencies are maintained, one dealing primarily with crime, the other with highway safety violations.

Perhaps this is what impends for Missouri. The attorney general's ruling may be a trial balloon to determine if there is sufficient public demand for continuation of the patrol as a crime detection agency. Since this service to the public is not legally within the province of the patrol, then the administration may properly promote the idea of a separate state police organization.

The present highway patrol has in recent years been performing the dual role of patrol and state police effectively. By remedial legislation perhaps Missouri may keep the set-up as it is, at the same time increasing the patrol personnel in order to cope with the ever-growing highway safety problem.

Missourians agree that there is need for state policing of crime as well as state patrolling of the highways. They do not want the patrol restricted in its movements until a solution to the legal problem is reached.

At the moment it appears that establishment and maintenance of two law enforcing departments with its resultant burden on the taxpayers might not be the most equitable solution. Taxpayers should watch this maneuvering of the state politicos attempting to ape the federal government by creation of more bureaus, more patronage and more taxes.

"—and Beg What We Need"—

Stories such as this are repeatedly heard: A man on WPA or some other governmental relief project will spend the major part of his earnings on tobacco, liquor, gambling or a tank of gasoline. When it comes to supplying his family or himself with food, he wangles a basket of groceries from a relief agency, a credit grocery or a sympathetic neighbor.

The current method of living seems to resolve itself into the following philosophy: We buy what we want; and beg what we need." This attitude is not restricted to the ill-clad, ill-fed and ill-housed, but seems more and more on the way to acceptance by the middle class as a maxim for living.

"Rifraff," an Adult Problem, Too

Much of the good American stock is dying out and a race of rifraff is springing up in this country," a New York Boy Scout executive declared before an annual convention of school teachers in Joplin. None too rosy a picture was painted by other speakers, too, for the boys and girls of today.

The teachers have a grave responsibility facing them in either promoting or discouraging this development of a race of "rifraff." It is not easy to control the present wild-eyed generation that is being taught to be unconcerned about their future security when they are educated to look to Uncle Sam for it.

Teachers, alone, cannot be blamed for the drifting tendencies in the morale of 20th Century youth. There is an adult problem just as certain as there is a youth problem. Parents have become too dependent on school teachers to "raise" their youngsters; parents are too anxious to get Johnny and Mary off their hands and pass the buck to the teachers.

It would be interesting to know how many mothers complained of the extension of the hot weather recently when schools were kept open only part of the day. The complaint of mothers was against the hot weather because they objected to having their children under foot even half a day. How many mothers sigh with relief when school term opens after the summer vacation?

What about the fathers? They will all agree that mother should not take this attitude of wanting a school term to give her relief from the children. But not long ago I heard a Kansas man prominent in Boy Scout work complain bitterly about fathers. Said he:

"Why should I devote the better part of my idle time with the boy problem, working hard at it, too, while fathers of these same boys are out playing golf or fishing?"

Mothers and fathers complain about the youth problem today, but expect someone else—teachers, Boy Scout and Girl Scout leaders—to solve the problem. Mom and Pop can't understand why something isn't done. Pretty soon now you will hear them all agree with the professor that a "race of rifraff is springing up," but they will accept no responsibility for being a contributing factor in this distressing and developing condition that may shake the very foundations of this democracy.

Poor and Chiselers Ever With Us—

Besides the poor whom we always have with us, are the unscrupulous, calloused chiselers who operate periodically in most any community. They have no sense of business ethics, contribute nothing to community morale and upbuilding. Their course is directed solely for personal gain. They boast of their affluence and business success, but when called upon for monetary assistance they begin to talk "poor-mouth." Their is no turning the cheek to them; their high-handed methods should be dealt with in kind.

There is also the transient type of business operator who comes into the town and searches out the suckers. Of course the suckers deserve to be gyped. But you don't have to be a perpetual sucker. The least you can do is to check with the Chamber of Commerce when you suspect an unknown peddler. You might save a lot of other Sedilians from being stung. There's a bit of satisfaction in that, even though you bit off a big chunk yourself.

Don't Push The Farmer Around—

There are ways to promote and ways to antagonize rural and urban good will. I watched a farmer with his wife drive up to a lone parking metered parking space. He followed the proper and accepted method of parking by drawing up parallel with the car ahead, preparatory to backing into the open space. Just as he did this a motorist who once opposed the parking meter plan for Sedalia, drove up behind and quickly slipped into the parking space before the farmer could back up. The farmer didn't say a word, but drove away. I know what he thought, however: "A lousy trick." There is such a thing as courtesy and Sedalia motorists had better keep this in mind if they want the farmer trade. These days a farmer is a mighty important person on Sedalia's business streets. Let's not have them get the impression there are too many "heels" in this community.

The Growing Territories

The increasing importance of the territories and insular possessions of the United States is well shown by a study recently completed by the Tax Institute. This demonstrated that in 1940 tax collections in the Territory of Hawaii totaled $21,000,000, or more than those of any of 11 states. Similar collections in Puerto Rico were $23,000,000, or more than those of 27 states. Alaskan collections of $2,000,000 were less than those of any state, but have doubled in 10 years.

These tax collections are a measure of growth of these territories and possessions and of their importance in a fiscal and business way. They suggest, since their trend is definitely upward, that their importance to U. S. economy and life will be even greater in the future than they have been in the past.

To Try Teacher On Flogging

HARTVILLE, Mo., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Miss Hilda Rhoads, 25 an Ozarks school teacher, will go to trial on a charge of felonious assault next Thursday, the third defendant to face court action as a result of the cat-o-nine-tails flogging of Max Caldwell last spring.

Testifying at the trial of her fiance, Dr. Robert Murrell, in September, Miss Rhoads said that in April, 1940, after a dance, Caldwell, 23-year-old former Ozarks guide who now lives in Coffeyville, Kas., dragged her into a cabin and ravished her despite her struggles.

She told the jury that after she became engaged she told Dr. Murrell, Eldon, Mo., osteopath, of this and that last May 1 he and Caldwell came to the cabin where she lived with Miss Aldythea Keeth. It was that night, she said, that the lashing was administered.

At the same trial, Caldwell testified that Dr. Murrell held a gun and threatened to kill him if he resisted the whipping.

After charges were filed last summer against her, Dr. Murrell and Miss Keeth, Miss Rhoads filed a rape charge against Caldwell but later withdrew it.

Dr. Murrell now is free pending action on a motion for new trial filed after his conviction on a felonious assault charge. A Polk

The parade will form at Broadway and Ohio avenue at 7 o'clock Friday evening, and will march through the business district of the city, finally stopping at the court house, where awards for the costumes will be made.

Far Reaching Treatment

Some people just cannot comprehend how chiropractic could be of value in certain organic diseases. For instance sometime ago I had a patient who was passing blood from a kidney. He had been in a large city hospital for twelve days and inasmuch as he was not improving, decided to come home. He took active chiropractic treatments and was well.

Some may say the kidney just happened to stop bleeding at that time but I have had other similar cases with the same results. It seems quite coincident that it just happens after they have had chiropractic treatments.

There are sound, scientific reasons why we get results. The blood supply to the kidneys is influenced by the nervous system; the nutrition of cells of the kidneys is dependent upon trophic nerve impulses. If there is interference with this nerve supply it leads to disease of the kidneys and obviously if we can restore normal nerve supply and the kidneys are not injured beyond repair, it will restore a normal blood supply with definite healing effect.

Normal nerve supply means normal health.

Hallowe'en will be celebrated by the Sedalia Lions club next Wednesday night with a dance, refreshments and special entertainment at the St. Francis hotel. Paul Williams, district governor of the Lions club and his wife will attend the celebration, which will begin at 8:30 o'clock.

The hotel will be decorated for the occasion, and the program will be in charge of Glenn Neely of the Sedalia club. The winner of a golf tournament which is now being played among members of the Lions club will be awarded a cup during the evening.

Girl Scouts Do Their Part To Aid In Defense

Give Pennies For Help To Refugee Children Abroad

A Hallowe'en celebration that brings happiness to war victims instead of annoyance to the home folks, is the birthday of Juliette Low, who was born on October 31, 1860. She grew up to be the colorful founder of the Girl Scouts in the United States.

Each year, in her memory, girls in all parts of the country observe Girl Scout week, which, this year begins on October 26 and ends on November 1. Each year, Girl Scouts give pennies to swell the Juliette Low Memorial Fund, dedicated to the furtherance of Mrs. Low's dream of international friendship and understanding.

The pennies of American girls, from seven to eighteen years of age, have brought substantial help to the bombed children of Europe and Asia. The total, to date, includes an ambulance, two mobile canteens, equipment for air raid shelters, bales of shoes, underclothing, cloth and knitting wool supplies for the Girl Scout and the Girl Guide hostel in London. Special supplies have gone to the Polish refugee children and Chinese Girl Scouts.

"Jobs Wanted" is the theme of Girl Scouts as they go into their second year of service work. More than 600,000 active members are observing National Girl Scout week by saying "Jobs Wanted! We'll Help." Over four hundred of these girls are in Sedalia.

Assist Red Cross

In the past year, Sedalia Girl Scouts have assisted the Red Cross by knitting mufflers, agans and working in the surgical dressing rooms. They have been active in helping the USO, Melita Day Nursery, Community Chest committee and many other organizations seeking their help.

Girl Scouting means service—service to homes, communities and country. Today and every day this week, Girl Scouts everywhere are celebrating National Girl Scout Week.

Sedalia Girl Scouts will start the week by attending church on Sunday. The brown uniform of the Brownie Scout and the green uniform of the Girl Scout will be seen at all church services. During the week, there will be special troop meetings.

The Girl Scout leaders will entertain the council members and all new leaders, Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. E. L. Spangler. The Brownie Scouts enjoyed an Indian Revel at the park Friday as their part of the week's celebration.

The slogan for the National Girl Scout convention held in Dallas, Texas, the past week was "Girl Scouts—Prepared to Serve." The Girl Scouts in Sedalia are an important part of the world's largest volunteer organization for girls. The girl, in green, on the street this week is working to help national defense. Their way of celebrating is to serve and help others.

Officers Are Elected By Club

Mrs. Emory Gordon was elected president of the Prairie Ridge Homemakers club, which met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. W. J. Reid, with Mrs. Willie Johnson and Mrs. Joe "Bill" Reid, assisting hostesses.

Reid; parliamentarian, Mrs. Harry Tevis; reading chairman, Mrs. Bert Brown; child development leader, Mrs. Fred Gordon; dramatic leader, Mrs. W. S. Rife; 4-H club leader, Mrs. Albert Reid.

There were fifteen members and eight guests at the meeting and roll call was answered by telling of one of Pettis county's beauty spots. They mentioned such places as views from their own homes, Bothwell Lodge, Liberty park, and one woman stated that any yard where children were playing, was a beautiful site to her.

Mrs. Harry Tevis and Mrs. Dave Green demonstrated making caramel custard and cream of tomato soup. Miss Dorothy Bacon, home demonstration leader, gave some suggestions for topics for meetings next year. Scripture was read by Mrs. Emory Gordon.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Fred Gordon.

Missouri Husks Nebraska 6 to 0

Tiger Touchdown Comes In Opening Of Fourth Quarter

The Third Time In 50 Years Huskers Failed To Cross A Missouri Goal Line

BY CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 25.—(P)—Nebraska battered itself to pieces on Missouri's rock-ribbed forward wall today and saw its Big Six football dynasty crumble into memories as the Tigers plowed over a touchdown in the last quarter for a 6-0 triumph.

More than 29,000 frenzied spectators roared themselves hoarse as these two power-laden teams kept each other at bay with vicious line work.

It Has Been A Long Time

It was the third time in nearly 50 years of football that the Cornhuskers failed to score against Missouri. The defeat also snapped a Nebraska winning streak of nine conference games which stretched back two years to another Missouri victory.

Sophomore Maurice (Red) Wade, Missouri substitute quarterback, fumbled a pass from Dale Braley to start a 64-yard march to the touchdown threshold.

Don (Bull) Reece, fullback, lowered his head and rammed the center of the Huskers' line for the score after a minute had passed in the final period. End Bert Eken's placement was wide for the extra point. Nebraska seized the missed point as incentive for a hopeful aerial attack which nearly panned out a touch-down before the game ended.

Nebraska Taken To Air

Set back with a 15-yard penalty after receiving a Missouri punt, Bradley moved into the sky with passes, connected first with substitute Kenneth Simmons for 20 yards, again for 10. Another pair of passes ate through the defense for 25 more and the Huskers wound up their work in the clouds on the Tigers' 20. But there, Captain Darold Jenkins of Missouri and Quarterback Harry Ice bopped Bradley's tosses to the ground and the threat stagnated.

Allen Zikmund, Nebraska's great reverse runner, suffered a charley horse early in the game and he lost much of his effectiveness but not before he had thrown scare into Missouri in the opening period. He snared a pass from Bradley for a 23-yard gain which featured a drive to the Missouri 10, the nearest Nebraska came to a touch-down.

In two plays, the Huskers lost five yards by bouncing against the Missouri wall. The thrust was shunted aside when Bradley's fourth down pass into the end zone was a mile from nobody.

Missouri failed to make a running play in Nebraska territory in the first period but cracked its way to the Huskers' 20 in the second. But Ice fumbled.

Steuber A Star

Lanky Bob Steuber was Missouri's driving force, playing a prominent part in the touchdown with 15 and 10 yard dashes out of the T formation.

Center Jenkins was the kingpin of the Tigers' staunch defense and made half the tackles.

Both teams were keyed high for this important engagement, which observers predicted might decide the Big Six title. The tensesness was noticed in the number of fumbles, a total of nine being made at times when plays were unfolding toward scoring territory.

He Won 'Moral Victory Over Army Red Tape . . . And So To Camp

It wasn't that Colorado rancher Eldon Gerald Smith, 31, didn't favor the defense program—he just didn't favor government red tape. So he refused to fill out his draft questionnaire. He said it was none of the McCoy, Colo., draft board's business how much money he earned. Indicted, he spent the summer in jail, but Attorney General Biddle quashed the indictment when Smith promised to enlist. He's shown above, right, in Denver, bidding goodbye to Corp. G. W. Morris of the local recruiting office before leaving for Fort Bliss, Tex.—as happy about his enlistment as about the "moral victory" he claimed over Uncle Sam.

The Garden club of that city had as their guest speaker, E. G. Moore, who is a noted naturalist connected with the state parks of Missouri and also with Shaw's Garden of St. Louis. His lecture was held in the college auditorium and he told many things of interest to Missourians in the field of conservation, forestation, soil erosion, flowers and birds. He spoke of the early trappers and traders, of the pioneer explorers, of Lewis and Clark, Daniel Boone, Robison and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore have taken many pictures depicting nature studies in their original haunts. These were shown in natural colors to the delight of the audience. Many beautiful birds were caught on the wing by their camera as well as butterflies and wild life of all kinds that haunts our Missouri forests and natural parks. This nature study under the guidance of such a naturalist as Mr. Moore, was most interesting.

White Mother In Africa

Margaret Sally Eulich, author of "White Mother in Africa" will relate her adventures on the dark continent at the Sorosis meeting Monday afternoon at the Heard Memorial clubhouse. In private life the author is Mrs. Sam E. Roberts of Kansas City, and is a native Missourian.

Born on a farm in Marion county, in the Ozarks, Mrs. Roberts moved later with her parents to Rolla and it was there that she met a student at the Missouri School of Mines. His first assignment after graduation was to go into the jungle country of Africa to aid in developing gold and diamond mines there.

After two years he returned to this country for 19-year-old Margaret Sally and took her back to the Congo with him as his bride. His name was Art V. Eulich and the book, "White Mother in Africa," which was published in 1939, is dedicated to him. Mr. Eulich was killed in a motor car accident in Missouri in 1937, shortly following the couple's return to what they believed was peace and civilization, after a number of years of undergoing the hazards and terrors of uncivilized Africa.

The young engineer's work took them to the diamond fields of the Belgian Congo and Portuguese Angola, and in Africa the Missouri girl found romance and adventure that answered childhood dreams. But she also encountered many problems and experienced the dangers of jungle animals and disease. How she overcame these obstacles for herself and the son she bore in the jungles makes exciting reading. This story of the author's fascinating life in West Central Africa will be heard by Sorosis members, and their guests, at the meeting Monday afternoon, which will begin at 2:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Herbert Seifert, chairman of the Art and Drama department, will present the speaker.

Eden Defends British Policy In War Affairs

Criticism Voiced On Some Of The Cabinet Members

LONDON, Oct. 25.—(P)—Mounting dissatisfaction with the failure of the Churchill government to establish a diversion front in the west and with other efforts to assist Britain's embattled ally Russia brought concerted pleas for public confidence from two high cabinet spokesmen today.

The most personable member of the British cabinet Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, and A. V. Alexander, first lord of the highly esteemed British admiralty, took the government's case directly to the public in addresses at Manchester and Kettering, while Prime Minister Churchill himself lent some weight to his government's counterattack by joining President Roosevelt in a denunciation of Nazi reprisal executions in German-occupied territories.

Eden, who is said to have more friends and fewer enemies than anyone else in the government, took advantage of a Manchester mass meeting to defend the policy of prosecuting the war as a "long term business" without attempting "any sudden, brilliant improvisation."

He said he could not say when Britain would strike or even "that we will strike," and added:

"The government, indeed, have but one purpose, which is yours and Stalin's, too—how best to accomplish Hitler's defeat. We will not be deterred from that task for one instant, even for the luxury of answering our critics."

Urgent Need Of Ships

Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, disclosed that Britain had sent "some naval equipment" to Russia but would not say what.

"With out defenses in the Mediterranean, the battle of the Atlantic and maintaining of commonwealth communications, we still have to find ships to escort Russian convoys," Alexander said.

Eden's insistence that the Churchill cabinet merited "the measure of your confidence," and the assertion that he "never expected to live to hear the suggestion that our own prime minister was backward in action" followed a week in which criticisms have been many and varied.

An assertion by Emanuel Shinwell, laborite member of parliament, that "something is sadly wrong with the government team" typified the attitude of a growing number of members of parliament, including William Gallagher, its only Communist member, Laborite Aneurin Bevan and Conservative Arnold B. Gridley.

The best lobby opinion was that no cabinet changes were imminent but Churchill is known to have been sounding opinion and might make changes if opinion continues strongly against his present group.

Little criticism has been directed at Churchill himself. The most frequent targets have been Lord Halifax, ambassador to Washington, Sir Kingsley Wood, chancellor of the exchequer, Capt. Henry Margesson, war secretary and Sir John Anderson, lord president of the council, all left-overs from the Chamberlain cabinet. Phrases like "men of Munich," the "sit-down war," and "time is on our side" have rung in criticism of them.

Aircraft Production Minister J. T. C. Moore-Brabazon has been sharply accused of anti-Soviet convictions and Colonial Secretary Lord Moyne has been attacked for his recent house of lords statement that a British continental invasion would amount to committing suicide on Hitler's doorstep.

Three Canadian Fliers Killed

wrought in Russian organized fighting power.

If these claims were even relatively true, the Germans could weeks ago have swept through or around Moscow, taken Leningrad, overrun the Donets basin and turned the Rostov corner into the Caucasus. That they have not done so is the best evidence that Hitler, bloody balked in his hopes of quick and crushing victory over Russia must sooner or later come to an accounting at home.

The fliers were identified as Douglas Roy Gill, Ladysmith, B. C., Nowosad, Vonda, Saskatchewan, and T. D. Shellshern. Authorities were unable to determine Shellshern's home address.

The plane circled over this village for more than a half hour at a height of only 100 to 150 feet attempting to land. Spectators reported the pilot apparently had lost his bearings in a blinding snowstorm, the season's first.

The bomber, believed to be on a training flight, did not burn, apparently indicating the pilot realized he was about to crash and cut the engine.

tor, the Russians said, the Germans brought strong reserves including the 241st regiment of the 110th infantry division which has been campaigning in the northwest. Two more regiments of the division were reported at "O".

Dispatches to Pravda said several small towns around Mozhaisk, 57 miles west of Moscow, were engulfed in the new German onrush but that the Germans failed to gain on the main road to the Soviet capital.

The Germans were said to have pushed Red army forces back at two points south of a town designated only as "N", but Russian dispatches said the defense forces "now are improving their positions." Germans who had pushed into the town of "N" itself were reported driven out with heavy losses.

(Reports reaching London and credited to German sources said Nazi spearheads had penetrated to less than 20 miles from Moscow, but there was no confirmation of the claim.)

Kharkov To Nazis

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—(P)—The Germans tonight claimed possession of nearly all the Ukraine and the most important nerve centers of the industrial Donets basin with announcement of the capture of Kharkov and Belgorod.

The high command had nothing whatever to say of operations around Moscow, but some military commentators spoke of an approaching zero hour for the Soviet capital.

(Russian dispatches said the Germans already had opened a great new offensive on the whole Moscow front.)

It was the disposition of all responsible military quarters, however, to distract attention from Moscow for at least some hours and focus it on the southern front.

Announcing capture of Kharkov, in the heart of the Donets basin, the high command said "one of the most important armament and economic centers in the Soviet union" had been in German hands since Friday.

With its 840,000 population, 12-story buildings and bustling industries, Kharkov was said here to have the appearance of an American city.

Situated 400 miles south of Moscow, and 220 miles northwest of Rostov, Kharkov is the Ukraine's second city.

Almost as important from a strategic viewpoint, said military commentators, was the capture of Belgorod, 47 miles northwest of Kharkov and 265 miles east of Kiev.

The purpose of the state tour is not only for membership, but to help prepare the people for civilian defense needs.

Legion Caravan Here Thursday

Members of Pettis County Post,

No. 16, American Legion, are working tirelessly, hoping to have the best record of any post in the state, on paid up members, before the visit to Sedalia on Thursday, of State Commander Dr. George Clason, of Clinton, and his caravan of state and district officers. They will be at the court house from 3 to 4 on that day.

The members have already passed last year's record, and if they have failed to contact any former, or new member, who has not paid his dues and wants to do so, they are asked to see Commander Ralph Baker, before the meeting Thursday.

The program Thursday will be open to the public and all civic and patriotic societies are invited to attend.

The Smith-Cotton high school band will play before the meeting.

Business Car Is Rebuilt At Sedalia Shops

Elegantly Fitted For Service On Missouri Pacific

Another tremendous achievement was completed last week by the Sedalia shop of the Missouri Pacific railroad, when Business Car No. 3 was released for service after being built entirely new by the local passenger car shop forces.

According to officials of the Missouri Pacific, as well as other railroad officials, this car is one of the best of its kind that has been turned out of the shop.

The car has an over-all length of 81 feet and 4 inches and is an all-steel and all-welded car. In other words, the sides have a number of sections of steel sheets welded together, giving an appearance of one continuous piece of steel the length of the car.

The interior of the car consists of a parlor room, dining room, one secretary's room, two staterooms with bathroom between the two, and the kitchen and living quarters near the kitchen for the crew.

The secretary's room is equipped with a desk, lavatory and berth.

The bathroom between the two staterooms is equipped with shower, lavatory, dental lavatory, etc., and can be reached from each stateroom.

The staterooms are equipped with dressing tables, clothes closets and berths. The kitchen is the latest thing in style and the cabinets are made of stainless steel.

Next to kitchen is the quarters for the crew, which is equipped with sleeping facilities, bath and lavatory.

Comfortable Lounge Chairs

In the parlor end of the car, or what is known as an observation room are six of the latest type lounge chairs and a settee which will accommodate four persons seated and can be made into a double berth, upper and lower. Large windows on both sides of the room as well as two large full-length windows on each side of the end door, which is equipped with a full-length glass also, enables a splendid view of the scenery as the car travels through the country. There is also an observation platform outside of the parlor room.

The dining room has a seating capacity of eight persons and is equipped with table and chairs and large buffet.

The entire interior of the car is made of 16-gauge furniture steel with no wood being used except the furniture. The furniture steel has been grained to a very beautiful color. In the parlor room, the dining room and the hallway from the parlor end to the dining room is of mahogany and the secretary's room and the staterooms are of walnut color. This part of the car is very outstanding and is indeed a masterpiece of work, as it took several operations to change the steel sheets to an appearance of being of wood.

Air Conditioning Superb

The car is equipped with the

Salvation Army WPA Recreation Center Craft Shop

The craft shop picture taken at the Salvation Army Temple, shows a band saw, circular saw, jig saw, lathe, planer and jointer, and the young people make such items as what-nots, bird end tables, foot stools and book ends. Each one makes two of each article, one is given to the Salvation Army, and they are permitted to keep the other.

The project is one of the WPA projects, under the supervision of Mrs. Sarah Redding, John Stansbury, sponsored by Captain Ellis and the Army and comes under the city-wide recreation center program of which Thomas "Dolly" Farris is in charge.

Warsaw

Cullen Cain, of Coral Gables, Fla., visited friends in Warsaw last week and gave an address at the Lions club dinner held at the Osage hotel.

Mrs. James A. Logan entertained thirteen members of the Trust and Obey society of the Methodist church, at her home, Thursday afternoon. The devotional was in charge of Mrs. Claude Freeman. At the business session these officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Rolla Ashhurst, vice-president, Mrs. Clyde McCarty; secretary, Mrs. O. V. Singleton; treasurer, Mrs. Ethyl Riddle. Mrs. Riddle has been secretary of the Republican Women's clubs of the Second congressional district, held at Bagnell Dam.

The wiring of the car is regarded as being one of efficiency and time saving as it is wired in such a manner that wall sockets and additional lights may be installed within a few minutes without disturbing any other part of the car.

The car is mechanically air conditioned, consisting of a mechanical unit which is fastened to the underframe of the car. It is also equipped with an internal combustion engine that operates with compressed gas. This engine also gives electricity for storage batteries.

Heavy, thick rugs, beautiful in color, in all the rooms and hallways and the rich drapes used at all windows harmonize with the color scheme of the car.

The six-wheel trucks, which were completely overhauled and equipped with new spiders and equalizer bars.

The cost of building the car was approximately $45,000.00 for both labor and material, making it one of the most expensive cars on the system.

The work of laying out and assembling the underframe, side sheets, roof and the interior of the car was in charge of E. C. Jett, assistant coach shop foreman. The painting of the car on the exterior and interior was in charge of E. G. Liebel, sheetmetal foreman. The electrical and air conditioning work in charge of Willy Alborn, electrician foreman. The upholstering and cabinet shop work was in charge of P. G. Berthou. The working of the trucks and underframe was in charge of W. J. Knight, coach shop foreman. All the above work was under the supervision of H. M. Kelly, general car foreman, and G. T. Callender, superintendent of shops.

Mrs. C. R. Freeman gave the devotional. Miss Gladys Iiam was program leader. Mrs. V. A. Lundquist gave an interesting report of her trip to the recent meeting of the Republican Women's clubs of the Second congressional district, held at Bagnell Dam.

Gibbons. The production was full of tuneful melodies. The stage setting was colorful and was done by Miss Jane Allen, teacher of grade. The cast was composed of about fifty-five voices from the various music classes of the high school. The accompanists were Betty Singleton, Kathleen Neill White and Mrs. John Gibbons.

The Warsaw Parent Teachers association met Friday afternoon at the school building, with the president, Mrs. B. F. Hart, in charge. Mrs. Ernest Hirsch, chairman of the health committee, was in charge of the program. Dr. James A. Logan gave an interesting and instructive talk on health.

Noel Ferguson, of Brownsville, Texas, and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Ferguson of Omaha, Neb., were weekend guests of their mother, Mrs. Ned Ferguson.

The McCormick Book club met Monday night at the Community building with the president, Mrs. Ernest Hirsch, in charge of the program.

Mrs. Buchard was accused of the fatal shooting of her husband, Donald, 37, at their home Sept. 28. Six witnesses testified to her good character.

She termed the shooting accidental, saying her husband handed her a pistol and told to go ahead and shoot him. She said she thought it was a joking bluff and that the gun was unloaded.

Miss Geraldine Allen, who teaches in the school system at Hannibal, spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. Laura Allen and sister, Miss Jane Allen.

The Republican Women's Federated club met at the home of Mrs. James A. Logan for its regular monthly meeting. The president, Mrs. N. S. Newkirk, presided over the business session.

Murder In Paradise

By Marguerite Gahagan

Copyright 1941, NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: The tragedy of two murders at Paradise Lake has renewed the romance between school teacher Mary O'Connor visiting there with her mother, Maudie, and reporter Dennis Flynn, sent down from the city to cover the story. But the don't make things easier for Jeanie Morris, whom stern strict aunt, Miss Millie, had been bent on death; for Tod Palmer, local editor who is in love with Jeanie; for Liza Holmes, Miss Millie's maid; for Chris Gordon, elderly innkeeper, whose business has been hurt by the mystery of what happened to Herbert Cord. Cord had carried on a summer flirtation with Jeanie for two years, and this year he has been killed by his wife, Liza Holmes, at Paradise Lake as his dance. Police suspect gangster Stash Voretti of the crime. Maudie discovered both bodies and tried to keep quiet about the cases than she is revealing. When a mysterious stranger breaks into the cabin she and Mary occupy, Dennis returns hastily from the city.

WHAT I HEARD

CHAPTER XVII

THE time certainly didn't drag that day, probably because Dennis had to leave late that afternoon. He'd checked with the state police and returned with the news that they were still getting nowhere as far as the Morris slaying was concerned.

We didn't have much time together, but I could see that his visit had lifted Maudie's spirits. She had that knowing look in her eyes and when it was time for him to leave she kissed him on the cheek and then pushed the two of us to the back door.

"It's a relief to see you two making calf-eyes at each other again. I hope, Dennis Flynn, that you'll use some of that Irish charm this time and save Mary from a life as an old maid school teacher."

Romance was definitely in the air that day. In fact, it carried over into the evening. I went out for a walk after dinner and ended up on the pier to watch the moon rise over the lake. I could see a boat down near the Morris dock and I hoped Jeanie was able to get a little portion of pleasure out of the night, too. The boat drifted slowly down my way and I could see a man and a girl sitting in it. They couldn't have noticed how close they were coming to shore or how their lowered voices carried in the stillness, but I could tell they were Jeanie and Tod Palmer.

"But I think we understood one another pretty well. And we loved one another, too. But people do stare at me. I know that they're wondering if I—"

"Don't say it, Jeanie darling."

THEY were so close to shore now that it didn't seem possible they couldn't see me there sitting on the dock, but they were too engrossed to even see the moon.

"I don't suppose people mean to be unkind. They're just curious," she said. "Like Mrs. O'Connor."

I nearly fell in the water at that one. What had Maudie done now, I wondered. Tod wondered, too, for he asked Jeanie and she explained.

"Oh, she came over to the house this morning. I happened to go out in the garden and she and Liza Holmes were deep in conversation. When they saw me they hushed up. I mean they changed the subject; you can always tell when people do that. And then Mrs. O'Connor was so charming. But I know she and Liza were talking about something they didn't want me to hear."

"What do you care about Mrs. O'Connor?" Tod demanded. "She's harmless enough, and she can be good company. I don't think she meant any harm."

"Well, maybe I am upset more because Liza was talking to her. Liza's the only one I have left, Tod. I'd be completely alone without her, and somehow I never thought I'd have to question her loyalty. I never thought she'd be talking to a stranger about me."

Today's Pattern

Button Front

8042

Make your new shirtwaist dress for fall with a touch of newness which lifts it out of the ordinary and gives it distinction. Pattern No. 8042 adds to the clear cut lines of the classic button-front favorite a pair of panels down the front with notched pockets topping each! It is the perfect design for any new fabrics you may have in mind—a wool crepe or tweed, a vivid new plaid, a sturdy gabardine or flannel.

Pattern No. 8042 is in sizes 14
